

Intercultural Studies Department News

February 2020

This is the first year without Dr. Frank Jabini, who after six years teaching in the missions department at Emmaus, returned to his home in Suriname. We are very grateful for the missionary enthusiasm and experience he brought to our students, and are praying for the Lord to send a replacement.

During the Christmas break, a number of students attended the Vision Conference in Atlanta, an organization that brings together Christian students and non-Christian international students and for them to learn about Christianity in a safe environment. A number of our students attended, and had part in sharing their faith with many young people of other faiths.

Five ICS students are busy getting ready for their overseas internship this summer: they are going to Spain, Peru, South Korea, and Myanmar. While there, they will be mentored by a veteran, learn language and culture, get involved in ministry, and get a taste of what missions is all about. My prayer is that the Lord will call each of these young people to become a missionary. Would you join me and pray for them?
